Content The High-Frequency Cards is a set of seventy-five 7 1/8" x 5 1/8" cards printed with words that students at Level D need to be able to recognize by sight.

Student Experiences Students become familiar with high-frequency, or "sight," words through repeated exposure to the words. Because many high-frequency words are phonetically irregular, it is necessary for students to learn to recognize them on sight. While some high-frequency words are phonetically regular, they are not decodable if they contain sound/spellings that students have not yet learned.

Assessment High-Frequency Word Cards may be used to assess students' knowledge of sight words.

Organization Two to six high-frequency words per lesson are introduced in Units 1-3. Beginning with Unit 4, students review previously learned sight words.

Resource Materials The Appendix of each Kaleidoscope Teacher's Edition includes a list of the high-frequency words as well as suggested activities for reviewing the words.
